Person Status Service is the most efficient way to confirm whether an ID has been verified by Home Affairs.

Compuscan's Person Status Service provides an efficient and fast way to confirm whether a person's ID has been verified by Home Affairs. This service will enable you to minimise risk as you improve your verification processes through a reliable, secure web service that delivers search results in real-time.

The service offers the user a comprehensive, yet straightforward output, when they enter an individual's South African ID number. When the search is complete, our system will retrieve an array of data, that includes the following:

- South African ID number (complete 13-digit match)
- Full name(s)
- Date of birth
- Gender
- ID status (deceased, migrated, naturalised)
- Verification status by Home Affairs (Yes or No)
- Up to 5 addresses
- Contact number(s)

KEY FEATURES

Effective and instant verification

A wealth of information retrieved from different datasets

Verification through the submission of only an ID number

Monitor previous searches and access search history

Define the service output

The Person Status Service allows you to submit a South African identity number to retrieve results, as defined within the service output options. The service holds many benefits for users wanting to utilise it beyond the verification process, as the results will also display the last five addresses and telephone numbers held on our bureau database.

ACCESSIBILITY

Secure web service

Manage risk as you positively verify a consumer's ID, using our latest development in verification technology.

KEY BENEFITS

Gain access to our most comprehensive datasets

Improve your verification processes via our advanced system

Minimise risk and financial loss

The system is user-friendly and accessible to even the most novice user
